PRICES LOW ON TOBACCO MARKET

Last Week's Sales at Local Warehouse Below the Average.

OFFERING VHRV POOR.

Saturday's Prices Higher Than Two Previous Sales of Week.

Lower prices for tobacco prevailed during the past week at the loose leaf sales conducted by the Bourbon Tobacco Warehouse Company.

The quality of the offerings was about the poorest that have been sold on the Paris breaks during the season, and many are of the opinion that the decline in prices was due to this fact.

The three sales for the past week amounted to $95,015 pounds.

Tuesday's sale consisted of 304,985 pounds for $36,246.26 and Thursday's sale amounted to 301,000 pounds.

On Saturday 289,030 pounds were sold for $34,308.90, an average of $11.87. The market was much improved and closed active and strong. Farmers were generally satisfied with the prices and there were but few rejections.

Following are some of the crop averages of Saturday's sales:

Shillman & Myers, 3,790 pounds, average $16.40.

Plummer & McClure, 5,325 pounds, average $14.32.

Calvert & Bogus, 6,540 pounds, average $14.44.

Hedges & Thompson, 4,325 pounds, average $15.42.

Woodford & Browning, 3,210 pounds, average $15.42.

Brennan & Gay, 10,825 pounds, average $14.62.

C. M. Thomas & Myers, 9,630 pounds, average $16.39.

Sol Redmon, 9,630 pounds, average $16.00.

BURGLARS ENTER SOUTH MAIN STREET BUSINESS HOUSE

Saturday night about twelve o'clock burglars entered the shoe-repairing shop of Mr. R. V. Jones, in the T. T. Temple building, on South Main street. An entrance was effected by breaking one of the side windows in the building.

Mr. Temple, who with his family, resides on the second floor of the building, heard the intruders as they were forcing the glass of the window. The noise of the breaking glass frightened the members of the family who gave the alarm, and before an effort could be made to capture the men they made their escape.

The police were notified and a search was at once instituted by Patrolmen Moreland and Judy, who, about 2:30 o'clock, Sunday morning, took into custody a white man who gave his name as George Brady. He had in his possession a pair of shoes which had been taken from the repair shop, and which was the only thing of value missing from the building.

Sunday afternoon Chief of Police Link arrested Will Brown, colored, in Claysville, on a charge of being implicated in the burglary, and lodged him in jail. Yesterday afternoon at four o'clock the men were arraigned before Judge E. B. January, and were held to the grand jury on the charge of housebreaking.

Patrolman King had the men in charge, together with several other prisoners, returning them to jail, when at a point near the Windsor Hotel, Brown, one of the men accused of the robbery, made a dash for liberty. Patrolman King called to him several times to stop, and when he continued his flight the officer sent several shots in the direction of the fleeing negro. Being unable to leave the other prisoners, King was unable to pursue the negro, and he made good his escape. The police of adjoining towns have been notified to be on the lookout for him.

EX-PARISIAN IS PROMOTED TO A GOOD POSITION.

The many friends of Mr. D. C. McNamara, formerly of Paris, will be gratified to learn of his continued success in the business world. Mr. McNamara, who for some time was identified with a furniture manufactory in Grand Rapids, Mich., recently went to Boston, where he engaged in the same business and by his business integrity soon advanced to the position of general salesman for the Derby Desk Co., of Boston. As a recognition of his ability to hold down a more responsible position his employers on January 1 advanced him to the assistant general managership. This position carries with it a salary of $6,000 per year.

NEGRO BOY SUFFERS STAB WOUND IN ARM.

John Williams, a colored boy, was stabbed in the left arm by a negro woman in Ruckerville last night. The knifeblade severed the large artery in the forearm and the wound bled profusely. The wound, which is not serious, was dressed by Dr. William Kenney.

REFUGEES BEGIN TO REACH MARFA

Mexican Fugitives From Ojinaga May Start for El Paso To-day.

MARFA, TEX., Jan. 19.—The Federal soldiers and refugees who fled to the United States from Ojinaga, Mex., began to arrive from the border to-day to entrain for Fort Bliss, where they are to be interned indefinitely.

All the 3,500 soldiers and 1,300 or more women and children were not expected before night, and it may be to-morrow before they are loaded on the ten trains which are to carry them to El Paso.

When the vanguard of the column with Gen. Salvador Mercado and five other Mexican Generals arrived here, the marchers were still scattered southward in a continuous line for twelve miles. Maj. McNamee, with a troop of cavalrymen, formed the escort, while behind the crowd of women, children, horses, burros and dogs there were more cavalry.

The arrival here of all the refugees who are on the footing of prisoners of war, will end a four-days' march of sixty-seven miles over a mountain road from Presidio, Tex., on the border, to which point the soldiers and women fled after the rebels attacked Ojinaga.

NEW FIRM TAKES LEASE ON THE FORDHAM HOTEL.

Mr. Claude Ratliff, of this city, and Mr. James Cummins, of Carlisle, have formed a partnership and have leased the Fordham Hotel from Mr. Duncan Bell, acting agent for the owners of the property and will secure possession of the building on May 1.

It is planned by the new lessees to make the hotel one of the neatest and most up-to-date hostleries in this section of Kentucky. The building will be gone over thoroughly and new furnishings installed throughout. The basement of the building will be converted into a pool and billiard room and will be fitted with every modern convenience, and will have a lunch room attached.

The portion of the building occupied by the saloon firm of Dickey & McShane which is also included in the lease of the hotel building will be opened as a bar by the new firm, and the present occupants will vacate.

Mr. Cummins has previously been identified with the hotel business in Carlisle and is thoroughly familiar with all the requirements necessary to make a success of his undertaking in this city. Mr. Ratliff, who is a member of the firm of Ratliff & Reed, will continue in his present business on Tenth street.

ATTACKED BY VICIOUS RAM BOURBON FARMER IS INJURED

Mr. Brutus Wheat, a well-known Bourbon farmer, is confined to his home near this city, suffering from a severe injury to his left limb as the result of an attack made upon him by a vicious ram. Mr. Wheat, who is just recovering from a severe illness, was going through a barn lot at his home when the animal attacked him, knocking him to the ground. The ram continued in his fury and it was not until some hands in the neighborhood of the barn went to his assistance with clubs and pitchforks did the animal desist. Mr. Wheat is confined to his home and is suffering considerably from his injuries.

New York's gunmen are serving brief terms in jail, but briefer terms in the electric chair would probably prove more to the point.

Some of the members of the Senate do not seem to regard conditions in the Health Board as entirely healthy.

"But you told me that this would be a paying investment," complained the Customer, who had taken a flier. "It was," replied the Broker. "But the customer did all the paying."

GARRARD COUNTY MAN RENTS SUBURBAN PROPERTY.

Mr. Jesse Kenney, of Lexington, has rented his suburban property, located on the Clintonville pike, near Paris, and containing about ten acres, to Mr. B. C. Flannery, of Garrard county, who will move to the place about February 1. The deal was made through the real estate agency of Harris & Speakes.

REMINGTON GOES TO THE CAUTAL TO PUSH CLAIM

Mr. William Remington, who is in the race for the postmastership of Paris, left Saturday night for Washington to push his claim for the position.

LEGISLATORS FACE A STRENUOUS WEEK

Both Branches of General Assembly Will Get Down to Serious Work.

HELP PROBLEM UP.

With Hearings and Investigations Solons Face Busy Sessions.

FRANKFORT, KY., Jan. 19.—The General Assembly starts on the third week of the session fully organized in both branches and ready for the serious business before it. Already 198 bills have been introduced in the House and 104 have been offered in the Senate, all of them having been referred to committees, so that with the consideration of these measures alone and the other hearings, investigations and "probes" already authorized the coming legislative week ought to be a busy one and furnish plenty of interest to the people of the State.

The "extra help" proposition is still "up in the air" with the outcome problematical. The resolution is now before Gov. McCreary, and there is a persistent rumor afloat that he will not approve it, but allow it to become effective without his signature. Even then there is the usual talk that the State Auditor will decline to issue warrants for the pay of the "extra help," or that if he does it will be stopped by mandamus proceedings.

WOULD HANDICAP BUSINESS

Leaders in both branches of the General Assembly declare that if the "extra help" is not provided it will seriously retard the work of the Legislature.

This week will witness an increase of one in the Democratic membership of the House, to-morrow having been set for the special order, the report of the committee in the contest of N. C. Tilford, Democrat, against Yaman Watkins, Republican, involving the seat from Grayson County. The committee has reported unanimously in favor of unseating Watkins, and awarding the seat to Col. Tilford.

Everything has been set for the usual junketing trips this week of the legislative committees to visit the charitable and penal institutions, but the House having "set its foot" down on this has "balled up" the program.

Most of the 302 bills already introduced in the Senate and House are expected to be printed and on the desks of the members before the week is well under way, and then committee meetings will be in order. Several important measures have been introduced and the hearings on these promise to be spirited and interesting. The most important "dry" measure so far offered is the Forest Senate bill providing that 25 per cent. of voters of the entire county may call a local option election under the present county unit law instead of 25 per cent. of the voters of each precinct in the county, as the present law prescribes.

There is also a movement among some of the leaders to put the "soft pedal" on some of the numerous investigations and "probes" on the ground that the proper distinction is not being drawn between an inspection of the various departments, bureaus and institutions to learn of their actual needs and requirements on which to base the amount of appropriation they are entitled to, and an "investigation or probe," which they say naturally carries the inference of irregularities and wrongdoing.

MAT COHEN'S BILL IS ENDORSED BY FAIR MEN

The Kentucky Fair Association Friday gave endorsement to the Mat Cohen bill in the Legislature, turning over to the county fairs the license fees from male animals collected from the counties in which the fairs are held, and providing for a blanket license for fairs. The officers elected are:

President—W. P. Johnson, Shelbyville.

Vice President—Augustus Overton, Hodgenville.

Secretary—B. G. Nelson, Hopkinsville.

Treasurer—J. W. Jeffries, Frankfort.

Commissioner of Agriculture Newman and J. L. Dent, secretary of the State Fair, met with the association.

THOMAS MAY YET BE CALLED FROM PRIVATE LIFE.

The Lexington Leader of Saturday contained the following: "Former State Senator Claude M. Thomas, of Bourbon, was in the city yesterday, mingling with his many friends here. Senator Thomas, it will be recalled, made the race for the Democratic Nomination for Congress in this district four years ago, and the campaign was a notably strenuous one. He is now living the simple life on his broad acres in Bourbon county, but his many admirers realizing his worth and ability, may yet call him from the shades of private life again to serve in a public capacity."

RED CROSS WELL-KNOWN NURSING LEADER HONORED.

As a great humane and patriotic institution to the mitigation of suffering for the sake of humanity and the uplifting of a strong and vigorous people, the American Red Cross, through its nursing service, is carrying into the homes of the people such simple instruction in hygiene and home care of the sick as will aid in the improvement of living conditions and the prevention of illness, and make it possible for women to render intelligently such care to the sick in their own homes as may safely be entrusted to them.

To encourage the employment of visiting nurses, not only in small cities and towns, but in the vast stretches of country where the service of a physician are difficult to obtain and where trained nurses are now unknown, a Town or Country Nursing Service has recently been established by the Red Cross. It is hoped through co-operation with local communities that the dwellers in all sections of the country, even in the most isolated, may eventually be assured proper nursing care in case of serious illness.

To Miss Jane A. Delano, the Chairman of the National Committee on Nursing Service, through whose instrumentality the nursing work of the Red Cross has been brought to its present high plane, the Red Cross Gold Medal of Merit has been awarded by the President.

Miss Mabel T. Boardman, the active head of the Red Cross, in presenting Miss Delano to President Woodrow Wilson, said:

"In token of its great appreciation of her services to the American Red Cross, the General Board has awarded to Miss Jane A. Delano the Red Cross Gold Medal of Merit. It is due to Miss Delano's devoted and efficient labors that a splendid corps of over four thousand of the best trained nurses in this country have been enrolled in the Red Cross for active service in time of war or disaster. Not only has this large corps been enrolled, but by means of 110 local committees a system has been established that enables the Red Cross to mobilize within a few hours' time anywhere in this country the number of nurses required for active service. It is to Miss Delano and the patriotic interest she has aroused in our American nurses that the Red Cross owes this most excellent organization. The people of the United States may well be grateful for the unremunerated and efficient work of this devoted woman."

PATIENTS TREATED SUCCESSFULLY WITH TUBE OF RADIUM

A tube containing radium, the existence of which was unknown to the public as well as to many of the medical profession has been successfully used by Dr. Charles Russell Hancock, a surgeon, in three patients in the last three weeks. Dr. Hancock told of his use of the tube, which, he said, belonged to Dr. George H. Erap-Thomas a bacteriologist of Bloomfield, N. J.

The tube was purchased by Dr. Hancock from Mrs. Curie when the Curries had discovered radium and had only four tubes of it. Dr. Hancock recalled having heard Dr. Hancock tell of his purchase from Mrs. Curie when Dr. Howard A. Kelly, the Baltimore surgeon, recently lectured on his experiments with radium. Dr. Hancock immediately communicated with Dr. Hancock, who consented to loan the tube for treatment of patients.

The first case treated by Dr. Hancock was that of a young girl, one of whose eyes had been removed because of cancer, only to have the cancer recur despite the operation. The radium treatments removed the inflammation from the cancer and most of the pain.

The second case was that of a woman on whom an operation had been performed for cancer of the breast. The cancer had decreased in size and the pain was lessened.

A crying child, the third patient, went peacefully to sleep under the radium treatment, and has not since experienced pain from the cancerous growth. Before that the child had not known relief from pain for a long time.

THEATRICAL.

"Seven Hours in New York."

People nowadays are too busy to read long-drawn-out descriptions of amusements, coming or going. If the attraction offered seems to hit the popular fancy, the chances are that a big house will result. Just now, a musical play called "Seven Hours in New York" appears to be sailing along the top wave of prosperity, and leaving a most enviable record. The title seems to strike the popular fancy. "Seven Hours in New York" suggests a lot of happenings. The theatre-goer is convinced that something amusing is sure to result, anyhow. It is a large company, requiring a 60-ft. baggage car to transport the scenery and electrical effects. A lot might be printed or written about the wondrous scenery, gorgeous costumes, etc., but what's the use? The chances are that "Seven Hours in New York" will draw a packed house at the Paris Grand today. (adv)

LUKE McLUKE SAYS

Any old thing is likely to come true these days. Three months ago Luke ran a paragraph advocating a eugenics registry office for human thoroughbreds. The squib mentioned "John Doe, blk. n. 21, by Doe-Smith and Mary Roe, ch. 1, 20, by Roe-Brown." This looked like a good joke. But last week the National Conference on Human Betterment, in session at Battle Creek, Michigan, advocated a "Eugenics Registry Office for Human Thoroughbreds."

Can you beat it? During the honeymoon she wears a dignity, ribbioned garment, highly perfumed and mused up with fold-decorals, and she calls it her "robe-de-mait." After a few children come along she wears an old cotton flannel bag smeared up with castor oil, goose grease and paragoric, and calls it her "night shirt."

A man could live in a house five years and he wouldn't know whether the people he crosses the street were white or black. But before a woman is in a new house five minutes she knows the whole family tree of the people across the street and can even tell you how much they owe.

A woman is nothing but a grown child. No matter how old or how wrinkled she gets nor how impossible her shape, she always goes around expecting that a Fairy Prince will call and get her some day.

The old-fashioned girl who used to marry for a home now has a daughter who goes home so seldom after she is married that she forgets her address. The reason a woman knows her husband is safe when he goes away on a trip because she took his accident policy out of his pocket and put her picture there before he started.

When you put on a sub always pick out some fellow who can't do the work as well as you can do it.

When there are growing children in the house and the grocery bill gets bigger every week, Mother is glad to see the children eat the way they do because she will have to go without the new hat she wanted. But Father claims that if the grocer didn't get it the doctor would, so what's the difference?

Some girls don't seem to care what they marry just so they have a fashionable church wedding.

A girl who makes sure to wash her hair twice a week will often forget her pillowslips for a month at a time.

They all look alike to a man, but a woman can take a glance at a table cloth hanging on a line in a yard a quarter of a mile away and tell you whether it cost $2.99 or $3.98. —Cincinnati Enquirer.

PLACE OF AGRICULTURE
IN KENTUCKY SCHOOLS.

Much is said nowadays about the teaching of agriculture in the common and high schools, which teaching is supremely important, but on account of its very importance must be undertaken with great care.

A school is maintained primarily to serve the interests of its community, in other words, to do the greatest good to the largest number. Agriculture is the predominating interest of Kentucky, hence it is obvious that agriculture cannot rightfully be neglected. When we say agriculture, we necessarily mean the whole scope of rural activities from corn production to home comforts and the general culture of the rural people. Bearing this in mind it is not right to be so extreme as to decay the thorough teaching of such branches as history, geography, English, etc., for without a fair degree of proficiency in such branches the man is handicapped in business.

A further consideration that is necessary is the absolute unfitness of the vast majority of teachers for teaching agriculture properly. Some have advocated a State law requiring the teaching of agriculture in all the schools, but upon the passage of such a law, nearly all our teachers would find themselves confronted by a task for which they were quite unprepared and as a consequence they would proceed to blunder, the result being the propagation of all sorts of false ideas and ultimately a loss of confidence in scientific agriculture by the farming public.

For the present the best method undoubtedly lies in the introduction of agriculture into the high schools and other institutions of similar rank. Provision should be made for the employment of well trained teachers of agriculture into the high schools and the installation of reasonably good equipment to aid them in teaching. The teacher is the main consideration, for after all the teacher himself is the school. He should not be expected to give advanced teaching in any particular branch, but should be able to get a few correct principles correctly placed in the minds of his pupils. Such things as the food necessary for plant growth, what the soil itself is, what its deficiencies are, how these deficiencies can best be corrected, what is meant by permanent fertility, how depleted soil can best be reclaimed, the importance of proper physical condition of soil, what constitutes a balanced ration for each class of animals, the merits of various classes of animals, how to select good seed, how to contend with insect enemies, how to produce good fruits and vegetables, how to sow and how to adorn the house, etc.

About ninety-five per cent. of our pupils never reach an institution of learning beyond the high school, hence the great importance of reaching this vast majority with the above enumerated useful teaching by placing it in the secondary or high schools.

As a matter of fact a large proportion of our common school teachers receive their training in these high schools, and therefore if we can reach them there with this useful instruction, the problem of teaching agriculture in the common schools will in time do much to solve itself, and in the meantime legislation requiring the teaching of agriculture in the common schools will be really beneficial.

IF MEALS HIT BACK AND STOMACH SOURS

"Pape's Diapepsin" Ends Stomach Misery, Indigestion in 5 Minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why they relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless, tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are fresh and clean, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes. (adv)

SURE.

When flush your coin slips through your hooks,
A dollar is a joke;
But, gee, how big a dollar looks
When you are broke.

"Come in and have a drink, Old Man."

"Nothing doing."
"What's the matter? Sworn off?"
"Not directly; but I've resolved that this year I'll exhibit a little horse sense, and that is the ability to say enough."

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

If Cries, Feverish, Constipated, Give
"California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mother can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages, and for grown-ups, plainly on the bottle. Remember, there are counterfeiters sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup. (adv)

ENVIABLE RECORD OF RETIRING SHERIFF THOMPSON.

The following is from the Kentuckian-Citizen of Saturday:

A. S. Thompson, the retiring Sheriff of Bourbon county, made his final settlement with the State and county this week and received his quietus. Mr. Thompson will retire to private life and rest on his laurels, after one of the most eventful political careers during which he has participated in a number of campaigns, resulting in every instance in a victory for the cause he championed, and has the first time yet to meet his defeat in the political arena.

During his terms of office he has made an ideal official and in all of his political endeavors has championed the cause of Democracy. He began his political activity in 1889, when William Goebel was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of the State, and was one of the first Democrats of the county to take up the fight for the lamented Chief Executive. His first personal effort in politics was in 1901, when he was nominated by the Democrats of this county as Representative over Horace Miller by several hundred majority, and the following fall defeated U. S. G. Pepper, who, as the choice of the Republicans, opposed him. In 1903, Mr. Thompson was again nominated and elected to represent Bourbon county in the Legislature, without opposition. Three years later, he was elected as Deputy Sheriff on the ticket with the late E. P. Clarke, defeating by a majority of 626, one of the strongest tickets that ever appeared in the field for Sheriff in the county.

During the fifteen years of his political life, Mr. Thompson has espoused the cause of many Democrats, among which were South Trimble for Congress, James B. McCreary for Governor, Jas. E. Cantrill for Appellate Judge, J. Campbell Cantrill for Congress, and for Hon. Ollie M. James for United States Senator, at all times; in his opinion, supporting candidates who were of and for the people, and has always met with success. In the last county campaign, when Judge C. A. McMillan was opposed by D. M. Hurst, Mr. Thompson was an active member of the campaign committee and rendered valuable assistance to his party, with the result that McMillan won by 795 majority.

COUNTY ROAD ENGINEERS WILL MEET IN FRANKFORT.

All of the county road engineers of the State will meet in Frankfort on February 4 and 5. A program embracing the subjects pertinent to their work and discussions of personal experiences with the new road law under varying conditions will occupy the time of the session. The engineers will be addressed by Gov. McCreary in the state reception room at the capitol during this session.

GOODMAN MAY SIGN WITH A FEDERAL LEAGUE CLUB.

B. F. Goodman, who was a member of the Paris base ball team for several years, and who last season played with Lexington in the Ohio State League, it is said will more than likely go with the Toronto Club of the Federal League. It is said that Goodman was visited at his home in Huntington by a representative of the Toronto Club, who made him a flattering offer and it is probable he will accept the offer.

KENTUCKY MASONS APPEALED TO BY MISSOURI BROTHER.

An appeal by a Mason of Missouri, to his brethren in Kentucky, that they help him to secure information as to the whereabouts of his mother, from whom he was taken when an infant only two years of age, is contained in the Masonic Home Journal of January 15.

This appeal comes from Bert M. Edwards, the City Collector of Hannibal, Mo., and is addressed to the Worshipful Master, Wardens and brethren of the subordinate lodges of Kentucky.

It reads: "With the consent of my lodge (Hannibal No. 188), Missouri, and the approval of the Grand Master of Missouri and the Grand Master of Kentucky, I make the following request for information concerning the whereabouts of my mother, Mrs. Mary E. Gordon (at that time a young widow), from whom I was stolen when an infant only two years old.

"In Quincy, Ill., while my mother was seriously ill, April 24, 1875, I was placed in the Woodland Orphans' Home, and was given out for adoption unknown to her.

"A reward will be cheerfully paid for any information concerning her. If you will kindly read this letter in open lodge meetings for several months, it may be the means of bringing me the desired relief.

"Fraternally and respectfully, "BERT M. EDWARDS, "City Collector, Hannibal, Mo."

The 41,000 Masons of Kentucky will hear this appeal from their brother of Missouri, and if it is possible to learn anything in Kentucky as to what became of Mrs. Gordon they will doubtless discover it for him.

LEXINGTON POLICE CHIEF WOUNDED BY NEGRO IN DUEL

In a pistol duel Saturday morning about 9 o'clock near the corner of Vine and Broadway, in Lexington, Chief of Police J. J. Reagan was shot in the left arm by a negro named Joseph Smith, whom he was trying to overtake and arrest.

The negro in turn was shot three times by pursuing officers, but will probably recover.

The Chief was hurried to St. Joseph's Hospital in an ambulance, where his wound was dressed.

He is not dangerously hurt, and will recover.

The negro was taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital for attention.

The trouble started, in the store of Joe Rosenberg, shortly before nine o'clock, Saturday morning.

GUESTS OF HONOR OF THE KENTUCKY SOCIETY

James C. McReynolds, United States Attorney General, and C. C. McChord, Interstate Commerce Commissioner, were guests of honor Saturday night at the tenth annual dinner of the Kentuckians in New York, tendered to Senator Ollie M. James, of Kentucky. The speeches dealt with the traditions of the Bluegrass State and sounded its praises.

The limit on the parcel post is to be raised to 100 pounds, but will the express companies call or stand a further raise?

UNDER GOOD HEADWAY IS EAGLES' MINSTREL REHEARSAL

The Rag-time Minstrels to be given at the Paris Grand, on Friday night, Jan. 23, under the auspices of the Eagles' Lodge of Paris, promises to be a success from the fact that it is entirely home talent. Their trainer, Mr. J. Willard Rummel, expects this entertainment to be one of the greatest events that has been seen here this season, and it is expected that the principals will surprise and delight their audience with their marked degree of talent.

Musically, the choruses are among the best male voices in Paris. The opening chorus and overture, "In the Land of Cotton," with P. C. Lancaster, Harry Kerslake and C. A. Webber as soloists, with the entire male chorus of thirty-five voices, and also assisted by the High School Orchestra of eight members.

The end men will introduce a number of new jokes, of which none will be out of cold storage. A number of their jokes will be local current events, and a few, of course, will hit local business men, which never fails to delight an audience.

In the second part there will be a vocal solo by A. L. Boatright, a local favorite, and who needs no introduction to the music-loving people of this city. Those rag-time artists, Harry Saloshin and Dr. Harry E. Mathers, will entertain with their very popular musical and dancing sketch. Dr. A. H. Keller will pose as the stump orator and expects to greatly please his audience with his few remarks.

A few minutes in comedy—"The Fast Mail Train," by Brannon and Wollstein, a side-splitting sketch, written expressly for this entertainment, and if the artists succeed in keeping their train on the track they will certainly make a hit with the audience. Last but not least, The Morehead Quartet, consisting of Prof. A. H. Morehead, P. C. Lancaster, Harry Kerslake and Wallace Clark, four of the best male voices in Paris, will sing a few of their favorite melodies. The stage will be beautifully decorated in palms and all the fancies of a Southern dream.

Members of the Eagles' Lodge are conducting an advance sale of tickets and a large number have already been sold. Price of admission will be 75 cents all lower floor; 50 cents for the balcony, and 25 cents for the gallery. The 50 cent and 75 cent tickets are now being exchanged at Mitchell & Blakemore's for reserved seats, without extra charge. Go early for choice seats and remember the date—Friday night, Jan. 23. TEACHERS TO BE PAID ON TIME

For the first time in twenty years, the State school fund this year will be disbursed among the cities and counties as it falls due. The last installment of $492,000 will become due February 1, and Assistant State Treasurer Robert C. Phillips said Saturday that checks would be sent out that day. This year the payments commencing in October have been made promptly, and, including the February 1st installment, the Treasury will have disbursed to the schools over $3,000,000 for the school year. In previous years the February payment has been delayed as late as the following June.

FREIGHT RATES STAND.

Three attacks on freight rates on grain, grain products and tobacco were dismissed Saturday by the Interstate Commerce Commission, at Washington.

SLATTERY WILL BE ATTORNEY FOR EASTERN KENTUCKY

Now that Senator Ollie M. James has named his choice for United States Marshal at Covington, the Eastern Kentucky district, his next selection will be for United States District Attorney and Assistant District Attorney at that place. While these are some time in the future, interest among the politicians has turned to them.

The Marshalship having gone to the Eleventh Congressional district, the Attorneyship will go to the Ninth, it is believed, and J. M. Slattery, of Maysville, most probably will land. At least the salate at present is said to include his name.

Mr. Slattery is a brother of Mr. Ed Slattery, of Paris, and is a prominent attorney of Mason county.

There is still considerable confusion regarding the collection of the income tax, but the majority of the people are not worrying over the matter.

Our "Big Business" men are suddenly finding their time too much occupied to bother with such small things as financial institutions.

RESIDENCE OF L. A. SOPER IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

The residence of Mr. L. A. Soper, at Little Rock, caught fire Friday just before the dinner hour, and but for the heroic efforts of neighbors, would have been totally destroyed. The fire ignited from burning soot in the kitchen chimney, and a large hole was burned in the roof. Considerable damage was done to the ceiling and furniture by water.

ANGE IMPROVEMENT WILL INCREASE MEAT SUPPLY

Albert E. Potter, Associate Fore-
U. S. Forest Service, made an address before the National Woodgrow-ers' Association, at Salt Lake City, last week, on the question of meat improvement in the methods of grazing on the National forests. He made the statement that overgrazed ranges can be improved through use than they could if they were left idle.
He points out that the forage resources on the National forests represent a valuable asset upon which no only the welfare of the stockmen depends, but that of a large proportion of the people. The task of the Government has been to work out a plan which would develop this resource and promote its use to the fullest extent without harming tree growth.
During the first three years of administration, from 1905-7, the problem of the service was to take care of areas which had been badly overgrazed, and a material reduction had to be stopped. From the very beginning, the forest service invited the cooperation of the stockmen and consulted with them regarding the practicability of the plans which were to be adopted. This co-operation was secured through the various stock-growers' associations and it was so successful that similar associations have grown up among other users of the National forests.
Before range control was put into effect, the feed belonged to the man who got his stock on the land first, though there was no way by which he could hold it except by physical force.
Under such a system, might made right, and the only thought was to get what feed there was while it lasted. This condition led to serious controversy and out of it grew the range wars which often resulted in loss of life and property. Under the present control, right prevails, and had nothing else been accomplished, Mr. Potter says, the removal of this evil alone would have made the work worth while.

work worth while.
But he goes still further that the systematic use of has stopped loss of forage and that the feed formerly wasted has been putting the stock in better condition, with the result that, in many cases, the stockmen have been able to sell beef and mutton direct from the ranges where they were before producing only animals which had to be fed and conditioned before they could be put on the market.
He called attention to the experiments of the Government in artificially re-seeding the grazing areas to cultivated grasses, and showed that in some cases the forage crop has been increased as much as 400 per cent. He maintained, however, that this method is both slow and expensive and said that the great part of the range lands must be improved by protection and natural re-seeding, for the next 20 years at least. He says, too, that investigations have established beyond a doubt that natural re-seeding can be accomplished best by a rotation system of grazing based upon the simple principle that grazing aids in scattering and planting the seed after the seed has been given an opportunity to mature. Reports show that areas protected until after seed maturity and then grazed, as compared with areas absolutely protected for the whole year against grazing, are approximately 50 per cent. better, and probably 200 per cent. better than range which has not been protected at all. This means that ranges can be improved faster in use than they can be in idleness and the principle is being adopted on many of the forests.
He also spoke of the new open system of handling sheep, which is simply quieter herding during the day and bedding the sheep where night overtakes them. He contrasts this with the old plan of herding sheep close by the use of dogs and returning them each night to a fixed bed ground. The old plan, of course, rendered certain areas absolutely bare and the going from and returning to the bed grounds trampled a great deal of forage. He estimates that an increase of 10 to 20 per cent. has been added to the carrying capacity of the ranges and that 5 pounds weight has been added per lamb, because they have not been harassed by herding or forced to trail long distances to and from bed grounds. On 5,000,000 lambs this means 25,000,000 pounds added to the sheepmen's salable product, and to the country's meat supply.
He gave an amusing instance of a Government experiment in which it was attempted to try out the old method alongside of the new system, but it was found impossible to secure a sheep owner who would return to the old method, except through a bonus.
The change in handling has been in large part responsible for the building up of the Madison forest, which there enabled an increase in the number of sheep grazed from 90,000 to 107,000, with promises of further increases of several thousand.

One objection to the new method of handling sheep brought up by many owners has been that the herders who were used to the close system would not adopt the new one. The associate forester says that herders naturally take a pride in having their sheep look well and that since they are coming to realize that open herding means better sheep, they voluntarily adopt it.
In conclusion, Mr. Potter mentioned other studies and experiments which the forest service is undertaking to help stock growers secure a better utilization of the forest resources and said that the success secured in the work has been due largely to the hearty co-operation of the stockmen.

The Mystery of the Oyster House.

When you find an oyster
In an oyster stew,
You can bet your bottom dollar
It wasn't meant for you.
All was quiet in the oyster house.
Only occasionally came the plaintive deep of a restless clam or the snarl of a turned over fishcake.
But suddenly all was uproar and confusion, as a man at one of the par tables had leaped to his feet and,
with horror writ large on his features, was racing about and yelling with fear.
"What? What is it?"
But he could make no answer, but merely pointed with a shaking hand at his half-finished oyster stew.
"Bring that there stew here!" the manager ordered one of the waiters.
But the waiter backed fearfully away.
"Excuse me," he said. "I don't know what's in it."
"Volunteers!" exclaimed the manager. "Who will bring that stew to me?"
Not a soul stirred. The tall man kept yelling with fear and pointing.
"What was in it? What? What?
What was in it?" they insisted.
Somebody forced a tumblerful of brandy down his throat, and he stopped yelling and told them.
"An oyster!" he exclaimed.
The manager investigated it, and found it was even so, and immediately fired the chef and all his assistants.
Ammonia bombs are being experimented with for extinguishing forest

The Telephone and Good Roads

The telephone goes hand in hand with good roads.

The telephone overcomes many of the obstacles of bad roads and makes it possible for the farmer and other rural residents to transact business in the city and with neighbors when the roads are impassable.

Progressive farmers are insisting upon good roads and telephones. These two agencies of modern civilization are doing more than all others toward eliminating the isolation of country life. You can have a telephone in your home at very small cost. Send a postal for our free booklet giving complete information.

SAND CLAY ROADS AND THE TIME TO WORK THEM.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20.—There are at present about 35,000 miles of sand clay roads in the United States, mainly in the Southern States, according to the Office of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture. The time to work the roads is in the Spring when the soil is damp. If the working of the roads is deferred until late in the Summer when they are dry, they are not only much more difficult to put in proper condition, but the cost of repair is greater than if they were worked early in the Spring.

Previously to 1894 comparatively little, if any, of these roads existed. The popularity of this type of road is due to the facts that it is cheap, comparatively firm and durable, easy to construct and repair, and that the materials out of which it is built are plentiful in many sections of the country.

The sand-clay road is made by mixing the sand and clay in such a way that the grains of sand touch each other, the spaces between the grains being filled with clay which acts as a binder.

The approximate mixture of sand and clay may be determined by filling a vessel with a sample of the sand to be used, and another vessel of the same size with water. The water is poured carefully into the sand until it reaches the point of overflowing. The volume of water removed from the second vessel represents approximately the proportion of clay needed.

The proper proportion of sand and clay can best be determined, however, as the work progresses, as some clay will contain more sand than others. In fact, clays are very frequently found which already contain about the right proportion of sand.

If the road to be treated is sandy, the surface is first leveled off and crowned with a road machine, the crown being about one-half inch to the foot from the center to the sides. The clay is then dumped on the surface and carefully spread, so that it will be from 6 to 8 inches in depth at the center, and gradually decreasing in depth towards the sides. A layer of clean sand is then usually added, which is thoroughly mixed with the clay, either by traffic or by means of plows and disk or tooth harrows.

The best results have been obtained by thoroughly mixing or puddling the materials when wet. For this reason, it is desirable that the mixing be done in wet weather. Themixing can be left to the traffic after the materials have been properly placed, but this involves a whole winter and spring of bad road, and even then the mixing is not always satisfactory. In all cases, it is advisable to dress the road with a road machine or split-log drag after the materials have been thoroughly mixed, and to give it a crown of not more than 1 inch or less than 3/4 inch to the foot from the center to the sides. A light coating of sand may be added. The use of the road machine or drag should be continued at frequent intervals until the surface is smooth and firm.

If the road to be treated is composed of clay, it should first be brought to a rough grade with a road machine. The surface should then be plowed and thoroughly pulverized by harrowing to a depth of about 4 inches after which it is given a crown or slope of about one-half inch to the foot from the center of the sides. It is then covered with 6 to 8 inches of clean, sharp sand, which is spread thicker in the center than at the sides. The materials should then be mixed with plows and harrows while they are comparatively dry, after which they are finally puddled with a harrow during wet weather. If clay works to the surface and the road becomes sticky, more sand should be added.

The road is then shaped, crowned and ditched in the usual manner with a road machine. This should be done when the surface is soft, yet stiff enough to pack well under the roller or traffic. Wide but shallow ditches should be provided on both sides of the road, and culverts or crossdrains should be placed wherever water flows across the road, for it is exceedingly important that the "sand on clay" roads be well drained.

After the clay on sand, or the sand on clay, road is completed, it should be carefully maintained until the surface becomes firm and smooth. The construction of this type of road is by no means a quick operation. If soft, sticky places appear, more sand should be added, and if loose, sandy places are found, more clay should be added. It is just as important to attend to these small details as to any other part of the work, for, if they are neglected, the road is liable to fail.

It requires approximately 1 cubic yard of clay to surface 1 1/2 running yards of road 12 feet in width, or about 1.175 cubic yards to the mile. From 3/4 to 1 cubic yard will make a load for two horses on a dry clay road. The cost of the road will therefore depend largely upon the distance the material is hauled, the average being from $500 to $1,000 per mile. A road built under the direction of the Office of Public Roads at Gainesville, Florida, one mile long, 14 feet wide, and having 9 inches of sand-clay surface, cost $881 per mile, or ten cents per square yard. Another sand-clay road built by the office at Tallahassee, Florida, 16 feet wide, 7 inches thick, cost $470 per mile, or about five cents per square yard.

REGULATIONS FOR ADMITTING FOREIGN POTATOES TO THE UNITED STATES.

To permit the admission of disease-free potatoes from foreign countries and districts which are not infected by the powdery scab, wart and other serious diseases the Secretary of Agriculture has issued a series of regulations defining the conditions under which potatoes will be permitted to enter this country in accordance with the order issued December 22, 1913. This order extended to potatoes the nursery stock regulations of the plant quarantine act, and provided that no potatoes could be imported until the importers had secured permits from the Federal Horticultural Board, similar to those now issued to importers of nursery stock.

Potatoes to be admitted must be certified by the Government of the country of origin to be free from dangerous diseases and insect pests covered by the quarantine, and must have been grown in a district free from the wart disease and the powdery scab. The new regulations define the exact conditions under which such disease-free potatoes will be admitted.

The regulations, in general, besides prescribing the exact forms of notifying the Government of shipments, provide for the admission, under the inspection system, of potatoes from all countries not under quarantine. Such countries must, however, maintain effective quarantines of their own against infected countries; i. e., countries remaining under quarantine by the United States.

The regulations also provide for the lifting of the quarantine as to any countries covered by the quarantine upon the presentation of satisfactory evidence to the Secretary of Agriculture that such country, or well-defined districts thereof, is free from injurious potato disease and insect pests, and, after the quarantine has been thus lifted, potatoes will be admitted from such country or district in accordance with the regulations governing entry of potatoes from countries not now under quarantine. The countries now thus quarantined are Newfoundland, the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, Great Britain, including England, Scotland and Wales, Ireland Continental Europe and the Dominion of Canada. It is expected that from some of these, at least, it will be possible in the near future to lift the quarantine and permit the entry of potatoes therefrom under the conditions prescribed in the regulations.

Harry Thaw's $2,000 English "cob" is the stellar attraction of an animal act which has just been launched on an Eastern vaudeville circuit. With Harry doing a "thinning part" in "one" in the Concord jail, with Evelyn raking in the shekels on one-night stands and the "cob" doing his best to retrieve the fallen fortunes of the family in vaudeville, it looks as if the historic aspirations of the Thaws might yet receive proper recognition.

Pea straw has been found by Prof. Reinke, of Brunswick, Germany, to yield 24 per cent. of cellulose; bean straw, 33; and asparagus straw, 9. These materials have been made into paper, and other sources of supply may be found in cornstalks, cane stalks, numerous grasses, and weeds of various sorts. None of these materials, however, approach pulp wood, with its 45 or 50 percent. of cellulose fiber.

HIS STOMACH TROUBLES OVER

Mr. Dyspeptic, would you not like to feel that your stomach troubles were over, that you could eat any kind of food you desired without injury? That may seem so unlikely to you that you do not even hope for an ending of your trouble, but permit us to assure you that it is not altogether impossible. If others can be cured permanently, and thousands have been, why not you? John R. Baker, of Battle Creek, Mich., is one of them. He says: "I was troubled with heartburn, indigestion, and liver complaint until I used Chamberlain's Tablets; then my trouble was over." Sold by all dealers. (adv) (Jan)

WHAT ADVERAISING DID.

The 1913 newspaper advertising did a great many things for millions and millions of people.

How much of the good you took unto yourself depended upon how carefully you considered your favorite newspaper and what it offered you in valuable information.

It spoke an interesting and ever-changing story of all the things for which you spend your money.

It told you the best time to buy, the best places to buy and the best things to buy.

Manufacturers joined hands with retailers and explained by word and picture the merits of countless brands of merchandise that you were interested in.

How much of the good you got from 1913 newspaper advertising was pretty much in your own hands.

The new year will be a better year for you if you will increase your interest in newspaper advertisements.—Rochester Democrat.

THEATRICAL.

The Columbia Today.

"A Man and A Woman," (Reliance) This is a remarkably powerful story of the "red blood" type, which deals in a surprising way with the fetters of convention. It is well acted by Seigmman as "The Man" and Irene Hunt as "The Woman."

The woman is a society girl, and the man is a stoker on a steamer. They are washed ashore on a small island in the Pacific when their vessel is wrecked, and are the only human beings there. The girl at first fears the man, because she realizes that she is absolutely in his power, but gradually she changes her attitude. Freed of the trammeling conventions of human society she falls in love with the man. When they are rescued after several months the man tells the girl that he will go back to the stoke hole and she will be hailed as a heroine. It turns out as he says, and the picture closes with the woman in her palatial home, thinking wistfully of the happy days on the tropic island, and hoping that the man will make good as he promised some day come to her.

"The Occult," (American) Featuring Sydney Ayer. An intense drama replete with mystery. Another funny Keystone will be shown today, entitled "Our Children."

"Within the Law," at Paris Grand.

Local theatre-goers are certain to manifest great interest in the announcement that Bayard Veiller's exciting new play of modern American life, "Within the Law," which is the reigning dramatic sensation of New York and Chicago, will be given its first presentation here, under the managerial direction of the American Play Co., at the Paris Grand, on Monday, January 26.

In this gripping drama of thrills there is adopted for the first time for use on the stage smokeless powder and a Maxim silencer, such as the accomplices of the McNamara dynamiters are alleged to have employed to rid themselves of persons who might hamper their plans. These ingenious instruments of death add considerably to the mystery the police are called upon to solve in the play—a mystery they might never have fathomed but for the sacrifice of a professional criminal who takes the blame upon himself and goes willingly to his punishment out of unselfish devotion to a young woman who stood by him when he was in peril before. As a background for this story is the social problem of the person who is convicted of a crime, goes to prison and serves his sentence in full, only to be persecuted by the police and hounded away from the endeavor to earn a reputable livelihood.

"Within the Law" exercises an almost irresistible human appeal on all classes of theatre-goers, and is said to be one of the most exciting theatrical offerings of many years. An admirably fine cast appears, while the ornate scenic embellishment afforded "Within the Law" by the American Play Company is as elaborate as might be expected from the producers whose standard of artistic excellence is so well-known.
